

Thanks for the comments made during his visit in these parts. Regarding the tablets that Jose Enrique Rincon graciously provided us, we have used these in our system with great success. Our system creates dead spots that are most in need of the application of a probiotic. These dead spots tend to have strong odors typical of the presence of sulfur, which were treated with the tablets over a week. The dose was about ten tablets per dead spot. A week later, the smell disappeared altogether and the water quality improved. As you know our water is eutrophic as it comes from Lake Maracaibo. The combination of molasses and your tablets has improved our water quality immensely.
